Surblytė-Namavičienė, 2018-11-02 This book analyses the legal approach to personal data taken by different fields of law. An increasing number of business models in the digital economy rely on personal data as a key input. In exchange for sharing their data online, users benefit from personalized and innovative services. But companies' collection and use of personal data raise questions about privacy and fundamental rights. Moreover, given the substantial commercial and strategic value of personal data, their accumulation, control and use may raise competition concerns and negatively affect consumers. To establish a legal framework that ensures an adequate level of protection of personal data while at the same time providing an open and level playing field for businesses to develop innovative data based services is a challenging task. With this objective in mind and against the background of the uniform rules set by the EU General Data Protection Regulation, the contributions to this book examine the significance and legal treatment of personal data in competition law, consumer protection law, general civil law and intellectual property law. Instead of providing an isolated analysis of the different areas of law, the book focuses on both synergies and tensions between the different legal fields, exploring potential ways to develop an integrated legal approach to personal data. Regulating Industrial Internet Through IPR, Data Protection and Competition Law Rosa Maria Ballardini, Petri Kuoppamäki, Olli Pitkänen, 2019-08-28 The digitization of industrial processes has suddenly taken a great leap forward with burgeoning applications in manufacturing, transportation and numerous other areas. Many stakeholders, however, are uncertain about the opportunities and risks associated with it and what it really means for businesses and national economies. Clarity of legal rules is now a pressing necessity. This book, the first to deal with legal questions related to Industrial Internet, follows a multidisciplinary approach that is instructed by law concerning intellectual property, data protection, competition, contracts and licensing, focusing on business technology and policy driven issues. Experts in various relevant fields of science and industry measure the legal tensions created by Industrial Internet in our global economy and propose solutions that are both theoretically valuable and concretely practical, identifying workable business models and practices based on both technical and legal knowledge. Perspectives include the following: regulating Industrial Internet via intellectual property rights; IPR data ownership versus control over data; artificial intelligence and IPR infringement; patent owning in Industrial Internet; abuse of dominance in Industrial Internet platforms; data collaboration, pooling and hoarding; legal implications of granular versioning technologies and misuse of information for anticompetitive purposes. The book represents a record of a major collaborative project held between 2016 and 2019 in Finland involving a number of universities, technology firms and law firms. As Industrial Internet technologies are already being used in several businesses, it is of paramount importance for the global economy that legal business and policy related challenges are promptly analyzed and discussed. This crucially important book not only reveals the legal and policy related issues that we soon will have to deal with but also facilitates the creation of legislation and policies that promote Industrial Internet related technologies and new business opportunities. It will be warmly welcomed by practitioners, patent and other IPR attorneys.

innovation economists and companies operating in the Industrial Internet ecosystem as well as by competition authorities and other policymakers

Expectations vs Realities of Information Privacy and Data Protection Measures Indranath Gupta, 2025-01-30 This book is a machine generated literature overview of the legal and ethical debates over privacy and data protection measures in the last three decades showcasing the expectations vis vis realities of their presence and application in different sectors The book identifies the role and application of consent in different situations Over time consent in its various forms and types informed explicit and otherwise ensured data subjects have a measured understanding of the purpose of data processing The idea of consent with time has been challenging to implement with the rapid advancement of research in different areas It remains the most critical fulcrum yet there are instances when the implementation continues to challenge Owing to the nature of this sub discipline it remains a work in progress yet portrays a comprehensive range of issues The entire narrative is being explored through two such machine generated overview volumes and this is the first of the two These volumes have consciously tried to remain both jurisdictional and technology neutral while considering a range of data protection and privacy issues Towards that end this book has chapters that capture overarching issues about data protection and privacy conceptualizes data protection from different perspectives and its existing debates with other rights and developments in a democratic society provides a snapshot of developments happening in various jurisdictions and how data protection framework engages with other laws It also broaches the critical issue of consent and how consent as a requirement has evolved and integrated with health research and other allied areas The subsequent volume titled Operationalizing Expectations and Mapping Challenges of Information Privacy and Data Protection Measures in the Last Three Decades would focus on different sectors and how these sectors have been tackling different expectations concerning data protection and privacy It will also showcase how technology plays a catalyst in implementing data protection requirements The book highlights the future research areas in the context of data protection and privacy The volumes are an invaluable resource for not only researchers but also policy makers practitioners corporate sector across disciplines and anyone looking to get an idea about the evolution of privacy data protection issues and the application of consent over the last three decades since 1990
