Triaging the Streaming Wars Robert Alan Brookey, Jason Phillips, Tim Pollard, 2023-09-08 This volume considers the different implications of the rise of streaming services and their particular acceleration during the COVID 19 pandemic. Exploring the significant disruption caused to the entertainment industries by the rise of these streaming services a team of international scholars examine changes to labor issues and compensation which were central to the conflict between the Writers Guild of America members and their agents the broadening divide between networks and affiliates the significant consolidation of the media industry resulting from Disney's acquisition of Fox ahead of the launch of Disney and the variety of business models behind these services that defy the traditional advertising models and standard revenue streams. This thorough and multifaceted look at this rapidly growing section of the entertainment industry will be of interest to academics and students working in film and TV studies media industry studies digital media studies business and communication studies.

American Television Abroad Kerry Segrave, 2013-04-26 Once the major Hollywood studios got over their loathing of television as an entertainment medium they moved quickly to try to dominate both domestic and international programming. In the United States the eight major studios controlled an overwhelming majority of all television programming by the early 1950s. Their efforts in foreign markets were not quite so successful but by the 1990s U.S. distributors controlled about 75 percent of the international television trade. Hollywood's efforts in television were often thwarted by governments that recognized the airwaves as a public resource and intervened in varying degrees to keep the studios programming off the air in their countries. Still the U.S. industry found various ways to provide American fare to foreign viewers. Even into the 1980s for example some Hollywood shows could be bought by foreign broadcasters for fees as low as 25 per segment. Despite these efforts the American studios have never been able to completely dominate foreign airwaves. Viewers usually prefer their own domestic fare to that offered by Hollywood. This history fully documents the U.S. television industry's efforts in foreign markets and how it continues to look for new markets.
